IN VACATION.

A Good Guess.—"The slimmest show I ever had of getting a fee," said a Norfolk lawyer to a Roanoke brother practitioner, "was when a client had no other assets than a watch without any works in it."

"I suppose you took the case?" commented the Roanoker.

Vest Pocket Law.—When a well known ex-Attorney General of Virginia was a young lawyer, he was in physique far from large. In one of his first cases where he appeared before the court of an adjoining state it was his fortune to be opposed by an attorney, a veritable giant in size, and possessor of a most intimidating manner. Going up to the young man, the giant guffawed down upon him, "Are you the attorney opposing me? Why, I could put you in my vest pocket."

"Maybe you could," was the unabashed reply; "but if you did so you would have more law in your pocket than you ever had in your head."

Uniform Divorce Laws.—Hodge: Do you favor uniform divorce laws?

Podge: Yes. I think some of the ones the women are wearing these days ought to be good grounds for divorce.—Cartoons Magazine.

Fit to Be Judge.—In an Irish courthouse an old man was called into the witness box, and, being infirm and just a little near-sighted, he went too far in more than one sense. Instead of going up the stairs that led to the box he mounted those that led to the bench. The judge good-humoredly said:

"Is it a judge you want to be, my good man?"

"Ah, sure, yer worship," was the reply; "I'm an old man now, an' mebbe it's all I'm fit for."—London Globe.
